Comment:

my wife and i are middle class people, who have dreamed of owning a small farm. now, through much intense labor, we are living that dream, only to be told that there is a possibility of a major powerline that will devalue our property, ruin our views, and be dangerous to our health. why not run these lines through unpopulated areas? why destroy what we have worked so hard for? if our properties are devalued, we can't just take up everything, and start over.
